WORK IN PROGRESS:

- “Aim at Empire: American Revolutions through the Barrel of a Gun, 1750-1825,” book project under contract with W.W. Norton. 167k words drafted as of 6/22.
- “The Arms Trade & American Revolutions,” article ms under consideration at the American Historical Review.
- “Means of Destruction: Guns, Freedom, and Domination in the Americas before World War II,” book manuscript under contract with W.W. Norton. Research nearly complete.
- “PATH: The Project on Arms Trade History.” Since 2008, I have been working with student research assistants to quantify the global arms trade, from the Napoleonic Wars to WWI. Operating mainly in summers (as funding has allowed), we have been extracting detailed import and export data from manuscript sources and, especially, from annual customs reports published by the main arms-exporting states: The United Kingdom, the United States, Belgium, and France (Germany and Spain still underway). We are nearly finished locating sources and doing the laborious work of data entry. Our relational database now has nearly 112,000 entries capturing the global movement of all kinds of war material, from percussion caps to artillery, from 1815-1915. We will soon shift to data analysis and begin applying for external funding to turn the dataset into an online tool freely available to researchers around the world.
